

Horizontal Floor Tile Sliding Displays

Horizontal floor tile sliding displays are a great way of showing a selection of products within a small footprint.

Vision's sliding displays are robust and engineered to allow each display panel to slide with ease, making it simple for the customer to view their selected tiles in full. Each panel runs on specially designed nylon wheels fitted with twin ball bearings for a smooth action.

The display panels are supplied with a metal hook over trim to mask the cut edges of the tiles once merchandised.

The most popular version is the 10 x panel horizontal unit, although we occasionally make large 20 x panel double-banked versions when required.

All our displays come complete with the initial set of timber display panels and replacement panels are always available.
